Manitoba Second In Brier Curling

Give Great Display to Win Playoff From Ontario, 13-8

By Stewart McNeill
Special to The Bulletin
VANCOUVER, March 10. — (BUP) — A spirited Manitoba rink came through the hard way in a playoff to defeat Ontario 13-8 at Kariakade arena here today and take second place in the 1950 MacDonald Brier behind the new champions, Northern Ontario.

The unexpected but consistent Tom Ramsay skipped rink from Kirkland Lake breezed through to win the 1950 Brier in the eighth draw Thursday afternoon and give Northern Ontario its first title in the 21-year history of the Brier. Ramsay finished with seven wins and two losses.

As a result of last night's eighth draw, Manitoba, Ontario and Alberta wound up in a second-place tie for the playoff. Following the official presentation of the trophy to Northern Ontario before 3,000 screaming fans, the Chief Armstrong rink from Kirkland Lake, Ontario, counted four in the last three ends to eliminate Alberta's Wily Cuthbert rink.

The tiebreaker for inter-colonial commercial series, slipped one hour, three minutes and five seconds off the regular air time between the two cities.

The fighter, piloted by W. A. Waterson, native of Camrose, Alberta, and chief pilot of the Clouston Aircraft Corp. of England, averaged 331 miles an hour during the 20-minute trip. The jet liner averaged 300 miles an hour faster than regular transports.

Both planes will take part in tomorrow's air show at Rockcliffe airport, which will be attended by Prince Bernard of The Netherlands.

Officials of Air-Canada said no attempt was made to fly either plane at its maximum speed.

Still ahead of the government's move to nationalize the iron and steel industry, the federal vote Monday on another Conservative motion, This declares the government's failure to suggest housing program improvements in the speech I prepared for the King's delivery at Parliament's opening last Monday.

FIRE THIRD SHOT
The Conservatives fired a third motion at the government today. It "denounces the failure of the government to enforce its own instructions to departments not to over-expend on extraneous projects."

This one is to be debated and voted Tuesday, it will be treated by the government as a question of confidence which it must win to stay in office.

With the new parliament barely under way, the various ministries already have asked for more than $100,000 each in supplementary estimates to tide them over for the fiscal year ending March 31.

TORY WINS SEAT
The new motion means Labor will have to go all out two nights in a row to beat down harassing motions.

PARLIAMENTARY WINS
The House of Commons today defeated the Labor candidate for the House of Commons in the 1950 election. The House of Commons today defeated the Labor candidate for the House of Commons in the 1950 election.

Toronto Now 25 Minutes From Ottawa

Special to the Bulletin
OTTAWA, March 10. — (BUP) — Canada's two jet planes made close neighbors of Toronto and Ottawa today.

The jetliner built for inter-city commercial series, slipped one hour, three minutes and five seconds off the regular air time between the two cities.

500,000 More Vote on Action

By Sam Hooper
PARIS, March 10. — (Reuters) — All Paris metro (subway) services and 300 buses were running today, fifth day of the transport strike here. Meanwhile about 750,000 workers throughout the country were idle and about 500,000 miners were deciding by ballot whether to join the general stoppage for higher wages.

A spokesman for the Paris Transport Corporation said the non-Communist unions, which did not join the strike pending the outcome of negotiations, have accepted a five per cent pay increase. He added that some men from the Communist unions have also returned to work.

Some 5,000 government army trucks suggested the capital's transport service. The nationalized gas and electricity industries, also crippled by strikes, provided essential services today after the government "convinced" the workers. Services were normal, too, at the Clee Paris airports.

The non-Communist unions ordered their members not to resist the government's requisitioning order, stating that though they were all technically on strike all was in fact working.

The strikes from elsewhere was a constant plague. Chemical industry, 40,000 strikers. Textiles: More than 60,000 on strike in northern France.

Miners: strike ballot continued several pits in the Pas de Calais area already idle. Airfields: strike continues at Toulouse and Lyon.

The Communist evening newspaper Ce Soir today carried the banner headline: "Almost 1,000,000 on strike."

In a series of events that left Mrs. Saunders of 1212-1/2 avenue almost breathless, a three-burner gas stove made a fast exit from her life yesterday.

Less than two hours after the Bulletin was on the street Mrs. Saunders happily announced that her stove had been sold.

HYPNOTIC DENTISTRY RECOGNIZED IN U.K.
LONDON, March 10. — (CP) — Hypnotic dentistry is being given official recognition in Britain. A method of inducing a hypnotic state in a patient before dental treatment by means of a "pseudosleep" and verbal suggestion is described by the British Medical Association.

The aim is to induce a "state of reverie or sleep prior to injection of local anesthetic and extraction." Suggestions then are made to "relax" the patient.

Opposition Refused Oil and Road Details

The powerful government majority in the Alberta legislature voted down an attempt yesterday by the opposition to obtain details of oil lease bids and road contracts.

By an overwhelming majority the House sided with cabinet ministers who said it would not be in the public interest to reveal the information.

A request for a return showing all bids on crown reserve oil leases sold in the government's mammoth $9,000,000 sale Feb. 16 was made by Elmer E. Roper, (CCF-Edmonton).

Public knowledge of the names and tenders of unsuccessful oil lease bidders would encourage oil companies to collaborate in making future bids for oil land, Hon. W. E. Tanner, minister of mines and minerals contended.

CCF leader Rogers charged this reason was "unintelligent nonsense." He said that suggestions of "collusion and collaboration" in oil lease bidding were already being made.

Last Witness Testifies In Guay Trial

By WILLIAM STEWART
QUEBEC, March 10. — (CP) — The last of nearly 100 witnesses was heard today, 13th day of the murder trial of J. Albert Guay, 38-year-old jeweler whose wife perished with 32 others in the Sept. 8 wreck of a Canadian Pacific ship.

With 100 witnesses, the Crown tried to prove that the slim, unemotional jeweler anguished the plane wreck with a time-bomb for $100,000 insurance on Mrs. Guay and because he loved a young waitress.

The defence used a dozen witnesses to try to throw doubt on the elaborate case built up by the Crown.

BRIF SITTING
When the final witness was heard during a brief criminal court sitting, occupied largely with argument between prosecution and defence, Judge Albert Sevrigny adjourned the trial until Monday.

Only two witnesses were heard today, after submission by the defence for $5,000 each, taken out by Guay for a railway trip he made on his wife's last journey.

Attention was drawn to these policies evidently to show Guay was in the habit of buying trip insurance when he travelled.

The $10,000 policy on his wife at the time of her death was insurance coverage her flight should cover the CPA plane.

Yesterday a pretty waitress unraveled the story of a two-year love affair with Guay. She was frowning, 19-year-old Marie-Ange Robitaille who revealed intimate details of her stormy relationship with Guay since the first met him in the spring of 1948.

TOP NOTCH grain is grown in Westlock area and W. S. Backman, supervisor of Agriculture Service Board displays prize-winning sample. Campaign urges farmers to sow weed-free seed.

Modern Farming Methods Keep Younger Men Alert

By Marjorie Jones
Provincial News Editor

WESTLOCK, March 10.—Farmers who came to Westlock's first seed fair and poultry show Thursday went home counting their chickens before they were hatched.

Both literally and figuratively.

And promoters from Westlock Agricultural Society, Board of Trade and Municipal District Service Board, organizations which sponsored the show, urged them to do some careful counting.

Experts from the government endorsed the idea. Count, cull and keep records, they advised.

MORE MONEY

Clepsy grain and poultry entries from farmers who had followed the advice, did their share to prove that the scientific approach to farming adds to that total on the attractive side of the bank book.

White-haired W. M. Sterling, now retired, said he felt out of the picture.

He looked wistfully at somebody else's pump poultry and said, "I'm sorry they don't have shows like this 50 years ago, they can't help but improve agriculture."

Poultry exhibits were displayed in the basement of the Memorial Hall, Crown, strutting members of the bantam flocks protested imprisonment and the proceedings of Judge F. J. Higginson, many-time judge of Toronto Royal poultry exhibits and acting poultry commissioner for Alberta.

Hence, too, added to the bodiam. Geese honked and the gobblers gobbled and chicks cheeped and what with the sound track to films and general commotion, speakers upstairs, even aided by public address system, were put to the test to make themselves heard.

GOOD ADVICE

But the 300 farmers who listened were willing to strain their ears to hear what Art Wilson, field crops commissioner, had to tell them about "winter planning" for summer and crop rotation in place of summer fallow.

They met R. Jorgensen, M.L.A., who took time away from the legislature to increase upon them the need for soil conservation.

W. S. Backman explained the seed drill survey, which the farmer was to do in his field, and how to use his own seed in his field.

He pulled no punches.

He said only 42 per cent of the seed sown in Westlock area was fit to be put in the ground. The remainder was so full of weeds, he said, that the farmer was actually sowing his own weeds on which he would have to spend money to eradicate.

NEW PLANT

W. A. Ross, district agriculturalist and former district superintendent and G. Wood, now secretary of the seed fair committee, who was instrumental in introducing forage seed in the district, urged farmers to take advantage of Westlock's new seed cleaning plant.

Mr. Wilson pointed out that it was no shame to follow poor agricultural practices, but "if these practices continue, there is the shame of it."

Maybe Westlock farmers had reason to feel uneasy about their seed, but K. G. E. Wade, Edmonton poultry inspector, said they need not take a back seat with their poultry.

Max Zelle proved his point.

Mr. Zelle, who learned about supplemental feeding of poultry from reading about it, found out how to make 100 hens bring him $150 in a year—besides feeding his family of eight all the eggs and chickens they wanted.

"It was a revelation to me but it took a long time to learn. The younger men can learn more quickly through such shows as this," he said.

YOUNGER MEN

Younger men wanted to learn. They predominated, the show. Younger were students from Barrhead who dropped in to watch a captivating demonstration and see the exhibitor.

CHICK admired by Louise Ashton daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ashton, Dard, will grow into prize winner. Finest of type were auctioned to help pay fair costs.

FINE LEVIED FOR CRUELTY

Fort Saskatchewan farmer Joe Duta was fined $25 and costs in police court yesterday on a cruelty to animals charge.

Humane officer A. Lawrence told the court three dead calves had been found on Duta's farm and that the rest of a herd of 26 cattle and 30 pigs were in "poor condition."

"The accused doesn't seem to have made any effort to take care of his stock," the humane officer stated. "The barn looks as though they had not been cleaned for two years."

Indian Youth Hurt By Saw

A 16-year-old Indian boy, Paul Alok, who caught his hand in a saw-cav at Demaria's mill, 200 miles north of Edmonton, was rushed to Campbell hospital by plane Thursday afternoon.

They found the boy had taken "a sizable chunk out of his hand" while sawing wood at the Roman Catholic mission. He was given first aid by mission officers and three and a half hours later was in Campbell hospital.

He was given a remand and freed on bail.

Deplores Present Assault on Sleep

It now appears we can harness the brain to labor while the owner sleeps, and is above sleep experiments at the University of North Carolina—an aim that the Indians can have back. Jack Russell has prepared a sacred proving that the effect that you sleep, and the effect that you are down to sleep, perchance to dream, there was a rub, for in the sleep of death what dreams may come we know not of. The old boy was merely forecasting the possibility of modern day, de-verting assaulting him while he grinded his teeth and rumbled the counterpane.

Forecast for this fresh invasion of individual privacy is that education now may be effected with a minimum of waking time. You feed the victim a couple of capsules while he sleeps, and on the morrow he awakens to find the answer to the questions of modern day, de-verting assaulting him while he grinded his teeth and rumbled the counterpane.

Smart Alecks

The world is full of smart-alecks, already, and I see no need for increasing the number of arraigning by slipping the kids' thought-capsules while they are asleep. I see no need for slipping the kids' thought-capsules while they are asleep. I see no need for slipping the kids' thought-capsules while they are asleep.

Over the garden fence the conversation had suddenly turned acrimonious.

Bilingualism in Canada

Editor, Bulletin—This letter is in appreciation of your editorial in your Feb. 3, 1950 editorial entitled "Against Bilingualism."

I am one who is very much against the idea of the French-speaking element in the east (and in this province for that matter) continually crying for the need to make this Canada of ours bilingual.

We will never have unity in this wonderful land of ours if the politicians listen to the demands of this part of our population.

I think the U.S.A. is an example of unity, in that English is the official language of that nation. They have made numerous tongues into one happy family. Keep up the good work.

What Are They For?

Editor, Bulletin—After seeing the "Edmonton Bulletin" title about at the Stock Pavilion on February 20, one would wonder what the officials are in attendance. After the referee had been "re-elected" to the ring, and had Mills down for a count of more than three.

Why couldn't the officials count him "out"?

Although we would like to see the title come to the west for while, we would like to see it in a sportsmanlike manner.

Mr. Macdonald, in any kind of a sport he would not have accepted the disqualification, but would have fought on under a new referee.

School Wants

Editor, Bulletin—Now that the estimated expenditures of the provincial government have been announced, the premier and his ministers think of the greatest natural resource we have, the school children of this province, and what is their opinion of fair and equitable taxation.

We also know they only used the Judge Report to get re-elected on, as when the report was completed Mr. Judger had no knowledge of the large amount of unexpected money that would pour into the treasury from development that was to take place in the last two years making Alberta the richest province in Canada, or I have no doubt that the school children at least 50% of the full administrative costs of the province and divisions allocated according to need.

The $750,000.00 for school grants is about 28% of the costs which means that one class of taxpayer must pay 72% of the cost in addition to their share of the 28% paid from general revenue which is the government's opinion of fair and equitable taxation.

May point out that the government has been collecting in gasoline taxes about 25% of the transportation grant from the school districts and that since year before the grant is paid, the school districts have received only 75% of the amount set.

When the executive of the School Teachers' Association requested a refund of the gasoline tax collected on school transportation, the minister refused was a very difficult problem. Therefore we have our only paid premier and his ministers admitting they could not solve a problem that a grade three student could do.

I will not comment on the proposed revolving fund being set up for school districts and divisions financially able to build, other than to say it is of no value where taxation has been forced on past ability to pay owing to crop failures and that the government is following its usual policy of "To him that hath, it shall be given."

The only solution to the whole problem of inequitable school taxation is for the government to more nearly assume the responsibility to education, for although the minister has stated that it does not matter who pays, the taxpayer must pay the full cost, which we agree, but to force one class of taxpayer to pay 72% of the cost plus their share of the balance cannot be said to be fair or equitable.

THE QUESTION: Should the Ingrid Bergman picture "Strömholm" be banned in Edmonton?

THE ANSWERS:

Ray J. Edgar, 8610 Jasper avenue, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "I am well convinced that the picture is a masterpiece of art and that the cause she made is a noble one. I imagine her moral is a great asset and I imagine her moral is a great asset and I imagine her moral is a great asset."

Allen Penner, 11024-110 road, used car dealer: "The moralists who condemn the picture are just playing into the hands of the producers. People who see the picture should be banned to see it. There are just as many people in Edmonton as are just as many people in Edmonton as are just as many people in Edmonton."

Carl Thomas, 11021-67 street, coffee shop manager: "The picture is a masterpiece of art and that the cause she made is a noble one. I imagine her moral is a great asset and I imagine her moral is a great asset and I imagine her moral is a great asset."

They Do Not Mix

Proposed amalgamation of the Recreation Commission with the Parks Department, which earlier appeared to be a useful administrative device, has taken on a new unfavorable aspect because what is now contemplated is not amalgamation at all but a sort of swallowing up.

It would be most unfortunate if the Recreation Commission, with its purely social implications, should be merged with the Parks Department whose functions are entirely physical.

The long and short of it is that the two functions simply will not mix and it would be a civic tragedy if the magnificent work of the Commission should be reduced to the tempo of the Parks Department.

In 1920, Edmonton had three parks. Today Edmonton still has three parks.

In 1945, Edmonton had three playgrounds. In 1950, Edmonton will have 25 playgrounds.

Under the proposed terms of the amalgamation, the Commission's rate of progress would be broken down to the Parks Department's rate of progress which would mean that in 1950 Edmonton would still have only 25 playgrounds.

Director John Farina of the Recreation Commission has formulated five test questions, based on the long experience of other cities, which determine the qualifications of any civic body to control recreation.

"Does the proposed authority have a broad philosophy, understanding, appreciation and recognition of recreation in its widest concepts?"

Under the proposed terms of amalgamation, the Commission would, in turn, be a branch of the City Engineer's Department.

Keep Cinders Off the Streets

The complaint of Edmonton business men, expressed by the Chamber of Commerce, that the use of cinders rather than sand on downtown streets is causing damage to floor coverings in stores and offices should be considered seriously by the city.

The Edmonton Board of Health has complained two years ago pointed out, in addition, that household rugs and carpets in homes throughout the city were also suffering from cinder-strewn sidewalks.

The city replied at that time that sand was not available in quantities during the winter months.

That is no excuse at all.

It would be a simple matter to make a stockpile of sand available for winter use during the summer months.

That is one piece of wanton destruction that the city should be permitted to go on.

It may cost the city $50,000 to sand the streets in winter. It costs the people of Edmonton perhaps as much as $300,000 in damage to rugs and furniture when cinders are used.

Ottawa Should Not Need Coaxing

The news that federal cabinet ministers may be able to meet an Edmonton delegation within the next ten days to discuss the proposed relocation of the federal building site surely does not mean that Ottawa expects to be coaxed into compliance.

Ottawa should not have to be coaxed into compliance.

Full information about the proposed "Government Centre" site, consisting of 100 acres has already been forwarded to the capital.

That in itself should be enough to persuade the federal government to accept shifting of the federal building site to the city centre to the new location.

And now there is an even stronger reason for early decision on this shifting. The city now has before it the Detweiler project which, whatever its merits, must be given fullest and most careful consideration.

Little Change Is Reported In Commons

OTTAWA, March 16.—(CP)—E. D. Fulton (PC, Kingston) tried unsuccessfully in the commons last night to get two cabinet ministers to let the house in on the late-into they were having in front row benches.

"I hope it does not indicate another split in the cabinet," said Mr. Fulton, pointing across the floor to where trade minister Howe and finance minister Abbott were chatting quietly.

Mr. Fulton was discussing Canada's trade problems and he indicated that he would like the ministers to listen to what he was saying.

"Can't you make a speech without us?" asked Mr. Howe.

"Sometimes think the country is being run without you," Mr. Abbott.

"The trouble with you is that you make too many speeches."

Mr. Fulton: "The government thinks all opposition speeches are too many."

Mr. Abbott and Mr. Howe listened for a moment and then resumed their conversation.

British Papers Get Draft Bill For New Control

LONDON, March 16.—(Reuters)—British newspaper owners have received a draft proposal for a new press council in Britain and are studying it. Herbert Morrison, deputy prime minister, told parliament.

The royal commission on the press last June proposed that a general council of the press should be voluntarily created as a central body to safeguard and foster integrity and responsibility of the press towards the general public.

The council was to consist of newspaper owners, editors and journalists and lay members.

Explorers Plan Trip To Baffin

MONTREAL, March 16.—(CP)—A scientific expedition into the unexplored interior of Baffin Island will get out next spring.

The party of 18 or 20 will include scientists from Canada, the United States, Britain, Finland and Norway. With them will be a team of mountaineers from Sweden and four McGill university students.

Announcement of the expedition was made at the McGill headquarters of the Arctic Institute of North America. It will be headed by Col. P. D. Baird, who commanded last year's "Expedition Muskox" army manoeuvres in the Hudson Bay district south of Churchill.

Prelate Urges Less Controls

LONDON, March 16.—(AP)—The Archbishop of York today suggested a loosening of state control over the Church of England.

In a book published today, Most Rev. Dr. Cyril Garbett said that the only alternative to a decrease in government control was a complete break between church and state.

Dr. Garbett said the present relationship presents the danger that a totalitarian government of the future might try to take over the church for its own purposes. His book is titled: "Church and State in England."

Dan Dailey Sparks War Comedy Film to Success Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Having treated the problems of unwed mothers and polio on the screen, Ida Lupino is now tackling the subject of rape.

The actress discussed the question in a rare moment of leisure during the filming of "Outrage," which she is directing. She related a luncheon with Collier Young, with whom she is still on friendly terms as co-producer but not as husband. They are separated maritally.

"Our picture," said Miss Lupino, "deals with the psychological effects of rape upon an average American girl. We are treating the subject not in a shocky or sensational way, but with a clinical approach."

She related that the heroine is the daughter of a college professor and the fiancée of a normal young man. She is attacked by a rapist who has been trying her for some time.

CENSOR TRYING

"That was our only trouble with the censors," the actress-director said. "Originally we planned the rape as a mentally deranged. We had to change it so the act was premeditated."

The rest of the picture will show the effect of the rape on the girl, who shows her boyfriend and files to a small community. There she comes under the influence of a minister, who tries to treat her mental instability.

All goes well until a boy tries to law her at a country dance. She shows him senseless with a farm implement. A trial determines whether or not she should be punished.

"Perfect Strangers" (W.B.) tells the story of two people who fall in love while serving on a murder trial jury. Both are married to other people. The premise is good and it carried out with judgment and an eye for creating apt characters. Roger Rogers and Dennis Morgan show admirable restraint in the leads, and Thelma Ritter supplies some fine comedy.

Actor Pays Studio Quarter of Earnings

By Virginia MacPherson
Exclusive to the Bulletin

HOLLYWOOD, March 16.—(HUP)—John Ireland, who bought his way out of a juicy studio contract, sat down and figured it up today and discovered his freedom will cost him $250,000 by 1955.

The way Ireland feels, it's worth it. Every hundred thousand dollars of it.

And if you're guessing that his parting with Columbia studios wasn't exactly friendly, you're dead right. Ireland was so peeved at the boys out there he took his battles to court.

A couple of weeks ago a judge decided everybody's happier if Ireland became temporarily unemployed and cancelled the contract TO SHARE EARNINGS.

But there's a hitch in the deal. Ireland has to turn over to his ex-laborer of every penny he earns in the next five years.

That's going to be considerable. Because Ireland, who engaged himself as an "owner" nomination for his smoldering in "All the King's Men," is one of the hottest actors in town right now.

"But what would I be if I stayed at Columbia?" he argues. "I'd get stuck in as many low-budget movies people would forget all about me. You know what I was making during 'All the King's Men'? A lousy $7500 That's all."

"And right after my nomination they put me in a cheap B. When I beated their answer was 'Well, we don't make 'All the King's Men' every day.'"

"They're right, sure. Nobody does. But that's why I wanted out. If I can free-lance I can pick my own pictures."

Jump into enemy territory as a secret agent and contained the underground in France.

Although Dan Dailey is an old-liner at Hollywood movies, Corinne Calvet is just becoming used to the routine. She is a French girl who learned her acting at the Paris School of Fine Arts and became a leading star in French films.

"When Willie Comes Marching Home" starts today at the Capitol.

VANCOUVER, March 16.—(CP)—A father also are visited upon the children, says the bible.

Mrs. Mary Worobec, a widow and mother of four children, knows.

She is living on $83 a month, but lives evicted from her home and the loss of $1300 already paid on it.

The house payments are $45 a month and now are four months overdue.

"If I pay the house money, I have only $40 for a month's food," she said today. "That is not enough for the children."

The money comes from social assistance and family allowance checks.

Neighbors, welfare workers and friends have helped with food and clothing but no solution has been found for the housing problem. The eviction date is April 1.

Mrs. Worobec has been a widow only 10 days—her husband, William John Worobec, died on the gallows, a convicted murderer, Feb. 28.

Cabinet Asked Veto Boost In Rail Rate

OTTAWA, March 10.—(CP)—The cabinet should disallow the March 10 award of a railway freight-rate increase until rate "discrimination" against the west and other sections is removed, John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) yesterday told the Commons.

He called on all western members to rise to the defence of the low "Crow's Nest Pass" rate. He urged repeal of this statute.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he was not suggesting permanent interference with the increase, because it was recognized there must be a rise in freight rates to meet increasing railway costs. But in the present form the increase aggravated existing discrimination.

The Saskatchewan government announced Wednesday it was appealing the cabinet's veto power to disallow the increase which amounted to 7.4 per cent.

FAKE WIRE ALL 'ROTT'

UN Officials Annoyed By Piffalheim Piffle

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 10.—(AP)—United Nations officials here, their faces a bit red, would like to get their hands on the guy who nominated the town of Piffalheim as the site of a world racial conference.

The officials duly considered the nomination and circulated the nominating telegram as an official document. Then they learned it was a fake. They learned it was a fake because there is a council-general named "Piffalheim" to speak for it, or a famed wandering place called "had od."

The officials had been warned to pick a site for the racial conference. Nominations came on behalf of Torquay, England, which was finally chosen, and a number of other towns.

This was the telegram from "Piffalheim," which the UN officials circulated as an official document here.

"Piffalheim has unusual qualifications, namely no offices also no bedrooms. This has proved very effective, since work is done in open air thus improving delivery of the conference. It is a beautiful place, and the conference on women's rights greatly stimulated by long walks in forests."

"Also draw attention neighboring spa called bad odor whose waters very effective in relieving constipated patients."

Some 10 deputies pounced on Heider when he reached the ante-room for deputies in the parliament building. They kicked him and struck him with their fists. Heider fled down the corridor to the main entrance, his face bloodied.

Heider, centre of a political storm since his trial on charges of anti-Semitism, caused a tumult as soon as he arrived to take his seat in the Bundestag, the lower house.

Angry left-wing members shouted that he should be thrown out. The president of the house, Erich Kohler, ordered the demonstrators back to their seats and then told Heider that he must leave the house, apparently because of the disturbance. The deputy stopped on the way through the anteroom to talk to a reporter, and it was then that the other deputies caught up with him.

A German court at Neumunster acquitted Heider Feb. 13 of charges that he made anti-Semitic remarks and stirred class hatred. Heider has denied statements he was charged with making at a rally of his right-wing German party (Deutsche Partei) at Einfeld Nov. 1933.

The court's decision to free Heider provoked a number of protest demonstrations in German cities.

British Medicos Talk Strike Over Low Fees

LONDON, March 10.—(CP)—Rumblings of discontent over the pay scale of Britain's medical doctors flared into an open strike threat in one London suburb today.

The British Medical Association reported that the Harrow division of the British Medical Association has passed by a large majority a resolution to withhold services "except for necessary medical attention" unless the government raised fees by July.

Copies of the resolution have been sent to other medical association divisions throughout the country for their consideration.

15,000 PARTICIPANTS

The medical association said there were some 300 doctors in the Harrow area of Greater London. The ministry of health reported that between 15,000 and 18,000 doctors participate in the National Health Service.

The system of payment for doctors in the National Health Service, which now includes some 95 per cent of Britain's medical men, is a complicated affair.

Funds are turned over by the government to local pools out of which doctors are paid. A doctor may collect an annual fee of about 18 shillings (£2.70) for each person on his list or may elect to receive a basic salary of £300 (£300) and a proportionately lower fee for each individual.

Other senators supported him. Magnuson asked changes in the Truman administration's tariff-cutting reciprocal trade agreements program as part of a $2,000,000,000 increase in the government's price support funds.

Mr. Walbridge said that $20,000 was raised in Alberta in 1960 before us, we believe many lives can be saved through motivating people to seek medical advice," he said.

"With the proposed expansion of the provincial cancer services, and with clinics in additional cities, will come increased expenses and demands upon our society, for it will still be our role to motivate people to see their doctors and attend these clinics. A big job lies ahead of us."

Other speakers at opening sessions of the convention and a civic reception were Mayor L. S. Turner of Lethbridge, Dr. Victor Wright of Edmonton, director of cancer services, E. G. Wallbridge of Edmonton, honorary treasurer of the organizations, and R. N. Talbot of Calgary, executive director of the society.

About 75 delegates are attending. Mayor Turner noted that most of those in the organization are laymen and non-professional persons whose aim is to raise funds to help in the cancer fight. "To prove the government to take greater interest in it, and to take to the public education on cancer."

Some 10 deputies pounced on Heider when he reached the ante-room for deputies in the parliament building. They kicked him and struck him with their fists. Heider fled down the corridor to the main entrance, his face bloodied.

Heider, centre of a political storm since his trial on charges of anti-Semitism, caused a tumult as soon as he arrived to take his seat in the Bundestag, the lower house.

Angry left-wing members shouted that he should be thrown out. The president of the house, Erich Kohler, ordered the demonstrators back to their seats and then told Heider that he must leave the house, apparently because of the disturbance. The deputy stopped on the way through the anteroom to talk to a reporter, and it was then that the other deputies caught up with him.

A German court at Neumunster acquitted Heider Feb. 13 of charges that he made anti-Semitic remarks and stirred class hatred. Heider has denied statements he was charged with making at a rally of his right-wing German party (Deutsche Partei) at Einfeld Nov. 1933.

Rail Rate Increase Called Stock Deal

Alberta Counsel Says CPR Is Seeking to Sell More Common

OTTAWA, March 10.—(CP)—Counsel for Alberta charged yesterday that the Canadian Pacific Railway is trying to force shippers to pay higher freight rates in order to bring CPR common stock back up to par.

J. J. Frawley, representing the province before the royal commission on transportation, said CPR common stock is now selling at less than the $25 par value.

By getting freight rates increased, CPR would be able to increase the value of its common stock, said it back up to par and then release more of the stock held by the company.

SOME OPPOSITION

Mr. Frawley met some opposition, however, before he was finally allowed to introduce a document listing trends of stock prices of various Canadian and United States utilities.

The document, which Mr. Frawley said was supplied by a brokerage firm, estimated that CPR common stocks, with par value of $25, ranged in price between $11½ and $18 in 1959.

F. C. B. Evans, CPR vice-president and general counsel objected that this type of document, he said, was of value only when it was properly interpreted by a financial expert.

FAVORS CPR SYSTEM

An accounting expert told the commission he "definitely favors" the CPR's depreciation system, a major subject of controversy in the inquiry.

J. C. Thompson, accounting consultant called by the company, said the CPR's "user" method of depreciation was "particularly applicable" for railway operations.

Under the company's system, funds taken out of current revenues for depreciation reserve vary according to volume of operations.

Provincial opponents contend it draws out too much money, throwing a burden on the freight shipper. They favor the orthodox "straight line" method of depreciation.

Mr. Thompson said the CPR's method was "realistic" and that it charged up depreciation in a more equitable way than straight-line accounting.

Under cross-examination by M. A. Macpherson, Saskatchewan counsel, he said he knew of no other class of railway in the world employing the "user" system.

Claims Liquor Causes Half Traffic Deaths

LIVERPOOL, England, March 10.—(CP)—Killed yesterday from the liner Empress of Canada at the end of a 5,000-mile trip to school.

Gavin left his home near Medicine Hat, Alta., 30 days ago as far as Halifax, then he bade her goodbye and boarded the liner to complete the trip alone.

He will enter Stanford school in Sussex.

"I've come all this way because we thought a British education would be better for me," the cultivated Gavin told reporters while customs officers checked his luggage.

"It's been a grand trip," said the son of Owen Mathieson, Scotland-born engineer.

MARGARINE OUTPUT BIGGER THAN BUTTER

OTTAWA, March 10.—(CP)—For the first month in history, the production of margarine has exceeded the output of butter.

It happened in February. Butter production in that month is always at its lowest point for seasonal reasons.

Production of margarine last month totalled 8,646,000 pounds compared with creamy butter output of 8,494,000 pounds.

Since it became legal about a year ago, margarine output has climbed fairly steadily. In January it was 7,998,000 pounds. In February last year it was 3,394,000 pounds.

Butter production fluctuates widely, hitting a seasonal low in February and reaching a peak in June.

Senator Will Reveal All Bad Security Risks

By John L. Steele

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(UP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), said today he will send Senate investigators "all the names" of government officials he charges are bad security risks.

But McCarthy told reporters he will base his statement—that the state department is riddled with Communists on a few "thoroughly documented" cases.

Hearings of a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on the Senator's claim that there are at least 50 Communists operating in the department were in recess until Monday.

McCarthy has promised to complete his testimony in about five hours if committee Democrats react to "needling" questions.

McCarthy told reporters that he will make no effort to back up with "complete details" each of the 11 instances of alleged disloyalty which he cited in the Senate. Rather, he said, he will concentrate "a number of important cases," all documented.

As for the remainder, McCarthy said he will make public Monday all names in his files save those of alleged sex offenders. He challenged the committee to dig out the details for itself.

"INFINITELY WORSE."

Among the cases cited for publication Monday is one McCarthy has described as "phenomenal," and "infinitely worse" than the case of Judge Dorothy Kenyon.

McCarthy has accused her of "Communist activities" and membership in at least 26 "front" organizations.

Miss Kenyon, who has termed McCarthy an "unmitigated liar," was scheduled to testify under oath before the committee on Tuesday.

Ambassador-at-large Philip C. Jessup also may testify then if he chooses to reply to McCarthy's allegation that he has shown an "unusual affinity for Communist causes."

Jessup is on his way here from an official trip abroad and it is not known whether he will appear Tuesday. He was in Cairo, Egypt, yesterday and had planned stops at Paris and London before sailing for home on March 15.

West May Insure Ships

REGINA, March 10.—(CP)—Provincial treasurer C. M. Fries told the legislature yesterday a Western Canadian Marine Insurance pool might be formed to underwrite insurance on ships using the Hudson Bay route.

J. W. Hornum (L-Willeke) urged Saskatchewan government insurance office to write hull insurance on ships using the bay route. His proposal was defeated 26-19.

Mr. Hornum's suggestion, Mr. Fries said the government office operated "on sound insurance principles" and reinsured large risks.

It is not felt the office yet should carry risks greater than $50,000 or $75,000, he said. Insuring a ship might cost several million dollars.

A resolution was passed unanimously calling on Ottawa to do everything possible to reduce hull insurance rates for the bay route.

Hungry Businessmen Pay Off Red Jailers

OTTAWA, March 10.—(CP)—Chinese Communists are getting rich by blackmarketing foreign companies and forcing them to pay huge sums to discharged workers.

Bruce Rankin, former Canadian Trade Commissioner in Shanghai, told a press conference that Chinese Communists are "very effective" in their blackmail.

"They lock the management in their offices, without food or water, until they get what they want," Mr. Rankin said.

The Edmonton-born trade commissioner said he has seen the Nationalist blockade of Shanghai several weeks ago, reaching Hong Kong aboard the Chinese ship, Wo Ping. From Hong Kong he reached Canada by plane. Shanghai, a sprawling, Communist business with Canada—once Canada's largest trading partner—has been granted the regime official recognition.

Shanghai is the communist-controlled and two got stuck, Janet McLeod and Martin Foster, both of Ottawa.

"They have decided to stick it out," Mr. Rankin said.

Here's A Gamble

Want to go down in history as the world's greatest gambler? ... If you do, just bet your roll that Uncle Joe Stalin and the Russian Communist party will get licked in next Sunday's general elections. ... Even the pessimists are predicting that Joe will get between 96 and 99 per cent of the votes. ... In this case that means all the votes. Only persons who drink so much vodka they can't find their way to the polling booths, or drop dead or just forget to vote, are counted as opposition in Russia. ... How come? Nobody else but Joe and his Commy squire are running in that election, chum. Still "wanna" bet?

Wrestling in Edmonton is a lot cleaner than you may think. That's because grappling promoter Al Owing has, (at great expense), imported the latest in flexible plastic mat cover. ... It cost three times as much as the ordinary canvas covering but wrestlers won't burn as they squirm and mats can be washed off after every show. ... They can be patched if torn just like an automobile inner tube.

The Windsor Blues

City Commissioner John Hodgson burns up at the mere sight of a Windsor. Ont. postmark. Reason: A way back home a dollar was worth a dollar. In Windsor it bought $600,000 in City of Windsor bonds, which were to beat a nice five per cent interest per annum.

The Windsor city fathers did some high financing that was just low-down financing as far as Edmonton was concerned. Value of bonds was depressed to where only three-quarters of one per cent interest was paid. Not only the bonds were depressed, so was Edmonton's John Hodgson.

Fred Doucet, pioneer Edmonton radio performer, reminds me by special delivery letter (13 cents from Castle Hill to Bulletin—five blocks), that he predicted the big oil boom back in 1926.

Fred enclosed several copies of songs popular in the hectic 1920's, urging people to find oil and fortune in Edmonton. Doucet composed the lyrics.

Don't try to post letters in those new green mail boxes you've noticed in various sections of the city.

They're mail boxes all right but they haven't any slots through which you could drop letters.

Boxes have been installed by the post office department to speed up carrier delivery. Mail is trucked out to the boxes from post office without having to be lugged by the carrier. However, a postman runs out of mail he just goes to one of those green boxes and loads up again.

A pleasant thought is alluded especially to members of the Alberta legislature whom we can vote out of their seats if we want to.

More permanent market for Alberta's coal was forecast by Gordon Taylor, C.D., director of the Alberta Coal Board, who visited the Dominion government to advise the Dominion government on a national coal policy and guarantee subsidies for a three to five year period.

Mr. Taylor spoke to a motion picture legislature to urge the Dominion government to adopt a national coal policy. The motion was adopted.

JOHN HOWARD SOCIETY Aid for Women Prisoners Need in Edmonton Area

John Howard Society of Edmonton is faced with the problem of assisting women discharged from the Fort Saskatchewan jail.

The society's counselling, employment, and welfare services are extended mainly to male prisoners now. It must find the money to provide women prisoners with a trained woman social worker. Chairman George B. Henwood, K.C., told the annual meeting in Edmonton Public Library last night.

HALF OFFENDERS DRUNK
The problem is concentrated in Edmonton, said Mr. Henwood. The only jail for women in the province. There were almost 500 women last year with an average of 50 to 60 in the jail at any one time.

"A good many of the women going out of the jail have a record of more than 40 convictions," declared Mr. Henwood. "It is high time something was done for them."

A society member said from the floor that the only friends of female ex-convicts "are those who would drag their lower limbs through the mud of the streets of Edmonton."

The annual meeting of the provincial society will be held in Calgary, March 24. It was announced, and the meeting will be then discussed.

Thursday night's meeting dealt with the question of what to apply to the community chest for a grant in future years.

Chairman Henwood opposed the move, arguing "in a society like ours, we can't help the people who are in the jails and from the jails and penal institutions."

Green Light Given Bylaw For Traffic

Edmonton's streamlined traffic bylaw was given the green light last night by city council's bylaws committee. Minor revisions were made in the original draft prepared by the city solicitor.

The bylaw will likely come before the next meeting of city council for final approval or rejection.

18 INCHES FROM CURB

One revision to the original draft was the regulation providing, on recommendation of police, for reduction from two feet to one of the distance required for car drivers to have the right sides of vehicles from curbs when parking. Committee members felt that one foot is too small a space as tenders project nearly that far and in winter, ice and snow prevent drivers getting that close to curbs.

The committee recommended the distance be fixed in the bylaw at 18 inches.

Commissioner D. B. Menzies wants a regulation compelling taxi cabs to have uniform type sign for street use.

WANTS BYLAW PRINTED

Ald. E. J. Clarke made several suggestions. He wants truck parking prohibited between 101 and 103 streets on 104 avenue. He wants no parking on 101 street between 97 and 103 streets and heavy trucks with lugs using parking streets at any time.

Mayor Sidney Parsons said he would like to see the newspaper publish the complete bylaw as and when it is passed by council. Otherwise, said the mayor, professional opinion will be very great.

Other aldermen suggested that newspaper publish the bylaw section by section on successive days. They doubted the complete bylaw would be read by many persons.

TWO-MINUTE MEETING

Previous to the city council meeting, city council sat in what was probably the shortest meeting in its history.

Last night about two minutes meeting was for first reading of three money bills, authorizing expenditure of $3,300,000 for sewer construction and electric light telephone department extension services, and new Transit System equipment.

The bylaw approved spending of $1,800,000 for new sewer mains the council covered $700,000 for the ETS; $400,000 for telephone, and the remaining $600,000 for electric light extensions.

Damage Action Follows Mishap On City Street

For injuries allegedly received in an Edmonton street accident last night, a city woman has entered suit for $10,200 against three defendants.

The plaintiff, Clara O'Reilly, claims through her counsel W. J. A. Mustard, K.C., that she suffered concussion and permanent facial scars when struck by a taxi and thrown heading over a fence, landing on her head.

The statement claims that a taxi driven by Bernard Werner and a car driven by James Werner were in collision Dec. 22, 1934, on 101 street and 103A avenue and that the taxi moved the sidewalk, striking the plaintiff.

The claim contends that either driver with reasonable precaution could have avoided the accident.

Acme Cab. Ltd., a third defendant in the suit.

Plaintiff asks for special damages of $10,200 and general damages of $500,000.

"We have a good baseball team here, a good boxing club, a dandy golf course, a rifle club—it's meat and drink, and we want you to come out. There certainly is plenty to do in the sport here."

"They would have put me on the school board this year if they'd thought I'd have taken it," he said.

"The winter days didn't give me any trouble, but evenings were just a bit draggy, reading and listening to the radio, after so many years of being laid up nearly every night in the winter months," he said.

The combination radio which Edmonton's city department had purchased for him.

"I have contributed something more than money," said Mr. A. Aldridge, employment committee chairman, proposed a survey of employment opportunities in the city by 25 volunteers from the society. It was "funded" by the city.

"Very often we find a number of amusing prison discharges in rehabilitating themselves."

The society's 50-member council, chosen Thursday night, will meet later to elect former executive members besides Chairman Henwood and to appoint committees.

Edmonton Begins Battle of Budget

Edmonton's steady growth and mounting cost of material are reflected in a record $1,107,100 budget for current maintenance in 1935 as prepared by the City Engineer's Department.

Estimates are only provisional and include no expenditure for capital projects in the way of new construction. Cost of departmental administration is included.

The estimates will be reviewed further by city commissioners before coming before council for final approval.

UP OVER 12 PER CENT
The 1935 estimates are $132,740 above the actual amount spent for maintenance by the department in 1934, which was $1,074,350. Estimated expenditures last year were $1,019,000.

Estimated revenue of the department this year is set at $331,700. Last year the department had an actual revenue of $330,330, due largely to work projects carried out for other city departments.

The department's estimated total net expenditure for 1935 at $815,400. Actual net expenditure last year was $688,950.

Main items of expenditure estimated for current maintenance this year are as follows: Administration, $100,000; public works $300,000; street maintenance and clearing $600,000; sewage and drainage, $150,000.

Garbage collection and general scavenging is expected to cost $330,000. Last year the cost was $313,000.

The department has set aside $15,000 for dust abatement work in 1935. In 1934, $12,400 was spent on this work.

Recreation costs are expected to be the higher this year with $21,000 set aside against $19,764 actually spent in 1934.

The department is expecting to earn more revenue in 1935 than it did last year through work carried out for other city departments.

Beaver Hills
Needs More Aid
Plea that his constituency need more government assistance for agriculture services, roads, public buildings, nursing services, and electrification, came from William Lougheed, (Beaver Hills), when he spoke in the Alberta budget debate yesterday.

Formula for grants and assistance given by the government was satisfactory in municipal districts, but in unincorporated areas was inadequate, he said.

"I cannot brook—a name of the other members here do—of the assistance the government is giving in my constituency," he said.

Flooded Cellar Means Memories of Old Home

By Art Eiler
Bulletin Staff Writer
HANEY, B.C., March 10.—Harry Alnays was busy dipping water from his flooded basement and he said it reminded him of the time he was mayor of Edmonton and with every spring flood people beseeched him to do something about their flooded basements.

"I know how they felt," said the former mayor, "and how every body at home."

But Edmonton's ex-mayor and his chery wife are taking things easy in their retirement abode.

Now RESTED
Despite all his activities around the home he built over the past few years, Mr. Alnays now feels rested. Settling out raspberries in his garden, planting the rose of the hedge, or finishing the rock on the patio, all can be done in his own time in the healthy fresh air.

He expects to be kept busy all summer setting the motion picture grounds of the almost-acre property planted with shrubs, flowers, lawns and fruit trees. And he hopes to get in a bit of fishing a few miles from his home.

Last week Mr. Alnays finally decided the brace he has worn on his back for nearly a year, and he said that, except for some muscular pain, his back is fully healed.

THAT ROOF
"See that unpainted part of the porch roof?" he said, "that's where I fell off last spring and hurt my back."

Mr. Alnays's general belief, he said, is unusually good. "I always had bronchitis every winter in Alberta, but I haven't had but a slight touch of it here, and no colds. Maybe the altitude and the climate have something to do with it."

While the people of Haneey have not yet called heavily on Mr. Alnays to go to the aid of the stricken, the pressure is starting and promised to grow.

CURLING
"They have asked me to head-up an organization to build an artificial ice curling rink," he said.

A familiar light shown in Mr. Alnays's eyes when we asked about other sports.

"We have a good baseball team here, a good boxing club, a dandy golf course, a rifle club—it's meat and drink, and we want you to come out. There certainly is plenty to do in the sport here."

"They would have put me on the school board this year if they'd thought I'd have taken it," he said.

Opposition To Merger

Proposed merger of the Civic Recreation commission with the Parks department is still unsettled, following long discussion and considerable opposition that developed at last night's meeting of city council's bylaws committee.

The bylaws committee voted unanimously to place the question in the hands of the commissioners for further investigation and study.

Commissioners are to bring a detailed plan of the how the amalgamated department would function before a future meeting of the committee.

Both Mayor Parsons and Commissioner John Hodgson had previously voiced strong approval of the proposed merger. The mayor had made a motion that amalgamation be proceeded with under bylaw, which he later withdrew.

Mr. Hodgson said amalgamation is particularly desirable from the standpoint of administration as it is now "impossible to know where certain lines should run."

He felt the departments should be under one head, with recreation not in the "subservient" to the parks division.

But as to the overall authority, he thought this should rest with the parks department superintendent.

Recreation Commissioner Hodgson: "Why should a $750,000 department have a $500,000 department?"

GROUPS OPPOSE MERGER
Recreation Commission chairman Clarence Henschel told the committee the commission was chiefly concerned with seeing that the new bylaw of merger provided for continued administration of recreation through an advisory board or commission.

The commission itself had requested amalgamation of the recreation and parks departments.

Proposed to the merger was supported by delegates from the Edmonton Friendship club, the Mothers' Playgroup Workers' association, A. G. McCalla, of the Plant Sales association, and the University of Alberta.

Thompson, of the Recreation Commission, said the Group and Recreation Council of Social Agencies.

Dietitians Announce Memorial

OTTAWA, March 7.—(CP)—A memorial will be established to two of Canada's pioneers in dietetics, Violet Eyer and Kathleen Jeffs, the Canadian Dietetic Association announced today.

The Association's president, Margaret Clark of Ottawa, said the memorial will be in the form of a foundation fund to defray costs of a lecture to be given annually at the CDA convention by persons prominent in the field of nutrition.

The organization already has started a campaign among its 800 members to raise the $25,000 needed.

Mrs. Eyer, who died in 1940, was an honorary president of the Canadian Dietetic Association.

During the Second World War Miss Jeffs of Montreal, who died in 1945, was the first woman entrusted with the responsibility of training food services for the armed forces. She held the rank of wing officer in the NCAR.

Prizes were presented for the highest sales of the "Tested Recipe Cook Book," which was edited by members of the club. Proceeds are being used for church work, hospital visitors and Red Cross.

Reading papers were Mrs. L. Melechuk, Mrs. M. Sawchuk, Mrs. A. Solar, Mrs. J. Baron and Mrs. M. Skrypyk.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Outdoor Jobs In Store For British Girls

LONDON.—(CP)—A few of the British girls who worked on the land during and after the war are taking outdoor jobs in Canada now that the Women's Land Army is being broken up.

A group of six W.L.A. veterans will sail in May to work in the strawberry fruit-canning industry. They will hoe and pick fruit in the summer, work in factories during the winter.

Their trip has been arranged by Ellen Cumner, secretary of the Society for the Overseas Settlement of British Women, Miss Cumner has just made a four-month survey in Canada of employment opportunities for British girls.

She said it is unlikely that many of the disbanded W.L.A. girls would be able to find jobs in Canada. "Canada is not the country for very great deterrent" since the pound was devalued.

Miss Cumner, who visited all provinces except Newfoundland, said "recruiting exists also for girls setting up on their own as jobbers overseas on Vancouver Island."

As part of outdoor employment, she found British girls going to work in Canada with finding out "a very great deterrent" since the pound was devalued.

Acheson Urges All U.S. Join 'Tussle' to Defeat Russ Aims

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(AP)—State Secretary Acheson today called on the men and women of the United States to join with their government in a concerted, everybody-in-tune to defeat Russia's plans for "world domination."

He called it "total diplomacy."

The totality he had in mind appeared to be hardly less comprehensive than total war without the dive-bombers and trench mortars.

Acheson said the free world is engaged in a struggle fully as desperate for mankind as the successful fight against Nazism.

But "we clearly are not focusing our total resources on the winning of that struggle."

He said total diplomacy means that all branches of the U.S. government must work together and that other institutions such as business, agriculture, labor, press and radio "must agree voluntarily" to direct their efforts to the single purpose of the struggle.

Acheson's views were set forth in a heretofore unpublished speech released by the state department with his approval in an effort to enlarge and clarify the kind of foreign policy line he is following.

MATCH RUSSIANS

This policy holds that a Truman-Stalin talk, for example, would not solve any cold war issues at this time and that these issues can only be solved after expanding Russian power has been matched and cancelled by allied western power in critical areas of the world.

Best business is being done by the tanker fleet, already 500,000 tons greater than in 1939. An ever-increasing oil demand throughout the world assures continued progress.

COMPETITION CUT

But the general trade is beginning to be hampered by increasing tendencies of various governments toward bulk-trading and the insistence of some countries that fixed proportions of their imports be made up of goods from their own shipping. This has prevented free competition in the field, the chamber complains.

The U.S. is the principal target for criticism. The U.S. goal seems to be that 50 per cent of its cargo be reserved for U.S. shipping.

Besides eliminating competition for cargoes, the chamber says, the U.S. policy prevents other countries from bringing their dollar gains from their invisible shipping exports.

To emphasize the argument it says the shipping industry's contribution to Britain's balance of payments during 1948 was $100,000,000 ($310,000,000). The 1949 fig-

Acheson's speech was delivered at a meeting Feb. 16 of the advertising leaders who frequently help the government on public causes.

Acheson ruled out the idea of a preventive war to solve the Russian problem.

He said: "A 'showdown' in the brutal and realistic sense of resort to a military decision is not a possible policy for a democracy."

The Kremlin knows that.

He said that in most of the Soviet threat the United States faces a foreign policy with "two interrelated branches."

MEET THRUSTS

The first point in this policy, he said, is to "meet wherever possible all thrusts of the Soviet Union." He cited American aid to Greece and Turkey as an example.

The second part of the policy "must be to create those economic, political, social and psychological conditions that strengthen and create confidence in the democratic way of life." The European recovery program and American help to the Indonesian independence movement are examples of this, the secretary said.

Cabinet Aide Raps Phobia on Security

Mutch of Winnipeg Opposed To Extension of Welfare Measures

OTTAWA, March 10.—(CP)—A Liberal member of parliament told Commons yesterday he is not anxious to see additional groups of Canadians added to the state's social security payroll.

Leslie Mutch, Liberal member for Winnipeg South and parliamentary assistant to Minister of Finance, said that while he is not a "naïf" a decision... and a fraud.

"A GRAVE DANGER"

"I believe it is time to say that there is a grave danger that the idea of state-provided security, if perpetuated, will destroy the possibility of any real measure of social assistance as all, for any of us," he said.

"At the considered risk of being both honestly and maliciously maligned, I want to say now that I for one am not anxious to see any further groups, as such, of Canadians put on the payroll of the government of Canada."

Mr. Mutch, a Winnipeg advertising executive, said he is in favor of social security measures that are borne by the public generally and that are in the public interest and for the public good.

NO DEBT BY STATE

But he did not think the question of social security should be approached from the standpoint that the "state owes us something."

"That doctrine was not only 'illuminous but exceedingly dangerous.' It was one that would pave the way for Communists to take control of the country."

Mr. Mutch said his speech in Toronto last month on social security had been referred to by Stanley Knowles (CCE—Winnipeg North Centre).

Knowles had noted that some of the statements in the Toronto speech had drawn support from the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

"POLITICAL THERMITE"

"Within the Chamber of Commerce there are men who have helped to keep this country a healthy and prosperous place," said Mr. Mutch. "It is a strong and virile organization."

"These men have made our country strong enough that political thermite can faze and fret without tearing down our economy. Those people seek to tear down a thing which they are wholly incapable of replacing if they should succeed."

Mr. Mutch said nothing in his recent would show that he was opposed to any of the existing social security legislation or an expansion of state assistance that would properly be a charge against the nation as a whole for the benefit of the nation as such.

It was debatable whether some of the existing social security legislation was a "confession of failure."

Mr. Mutch said nothing in his recent would show that he was opposed to any of the existing social security legislation or an expansion of state assistance that would properly be a charge against the nation as a whole for the benefit of the nation as such.

It was debatable whether some of the existing social security legislation was a "confession of failure."

'Peg Seeks CPR Tax

WINNIPEG, March 10.—(CP)—city council legislation committee yesterday approved submission of a bill to the Manitoba legislature asking power to collect a business tax from the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The city will seek payment of $100,000 a year business tax from the railroad.

The move results from the legal battle now proceeding between the city and the C.P.R. over an 1881 agreement. When judgment was handed down by chief justice E. R. Williams in favor of the railway last October, he suggested the city might be able to collect business tax from the company if the necessary amendment to the city charter was approved by the Manitoba legislature.

"The bill to be submitted will ask that business tax be collected retroactively to Jan. 1, 1948. It will not affect payment by the C.P.R. on the Royal Alexandra hotel until 1952."

Castles Were Built To Defend Noblemen

The color and romance of the Middle Ages is not in history books. The uninteresting facts and the dull tales of kings and queens, battles and wars tell nothing of the old castles, knights, or life in those days long ago.

A person was suddenly carried back five or six hundred years, they could see all these things, but because it is not possible, a description of the medieval castle is next best.

In center of the castle was the Keep, a large square tower in which the owner, his family and personal attendants lived. There were usually four main stories to the Keep, and also a basement, where the prisoners were situated. The various apartments were approached by a stone stair, built in one of the small corner towers.

INSIDE ROOMS

The ground floor was reserved for stores and kitchens, the second floor was the parlor-room, while the great banquet hall occupied all of the third floor. Above the hall was the top of the Keep, where low rooms were furnished for the master.

A well for fresh water was usual; by a side under the Keep, with the well dug in the courtyard. The idea was to make the Keep into a fortress, where the soldiers could make a last defense in case the invaders got past the walls of the castle.

PRIVATE DRAWBRIDGE

The main entrance to the Keep had its own drawbridge. Outside the great tower were one or more outworks, which was protected by the walls of the castle and a moat around the walls.

At each corner of the walls was

Medicine Hat Hat

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., March 10 (CP)—Medalia Potteries Ltd. is back to normal production and employment after four months of curtailed operations due to sterling devaluation.

Officials said price cuts and operating economies have made it possible for the company to get back into a competitive position on the domestic market.

This week, the company's production was comparable to the 1935 average with the working force boosted to 210.

Last Oct. 24, following devaluation of the pound, the firm laid off 230 workers.

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Story

Greene, the big croaking frog, was still hauled from his cold, but as soon as he had taken all the cup of hot asparagus tea, he said in a very loud voice: "TELL ME, YOU, UNCLE BUTTER, MY COLD HAS ALL GONE."

"What about the other frogs who have colds?" asked Greene. This showed that he was not selfish. He could have gone alone and have croaked alone for the price. But, not being selfish, Greene wanted the other frogs to have a chance. "What about my frog friends in the meadow and swamp?" he asked. "They also, have colds and can't croak. They can only whisper."

"They shall all have colds and can't croak," promised Uncle Butter. "Come on, Wiggy—all of you—help me carry the tea to the whispering frogs."

So Uncle Wiggily, Buster, Bunty, Double Dip and Jelly Bean helped Uncle Butter carry hot asparagus tea to the whispering frogs in the swamp and meadow. They were all trying to croak to get ready for Jug & Lug dog. Greene hopped alone, beside Uncle Butter and loudly called to his frog friends: "You will soon stop whispering and start croaking."

And, as truly as I'm telling you, that's what happened. No sooner had the frogs in meadow and swamp taken the hot asparagus tea, than they began to croak: "GER, UMPH! GER, UMPH! GER, UMPH!" Then they all got ready to croak (or the king and queen and try for the prize. I'll tell you about that tomorrow if the pussy cat doesn't try to play checkers with her face. I'll tell you about that tomorrow if the pussy cat doesn't try to play checkers with her face. I'll tell you about that tomorrow if the pussy cat doesn't try to play checkers with her face.

Thank you, he said to Bunty. Greene said this in a whisper for the house for the night.

Please enroll me in the Tawasi Club.
